ANNUAL DINNER AND MEETING OF THE ABRAHAM LINCOLN CENTRE

January 9, 1925

MR. S. O. LEVINSON on behalf of the Board of Trustees, the Corporate Members and the workers welcomed the friends and supporters of the Centre and invited them to listen to reports of the work accomplished. He said it was hardly possible to come to such a gathering without the thought of Mr. Jones; that it seemed to him that the spirit of Mr. Jones's influence and views is now being reflected more and more throughout the world.

He mentioned the loss of three people who in previous years had not failed to attend the annual meeting: Mrs. Henriette Roos Knight, a faithful friend in many capacities, Mr. Warren McArthur, a long time generous supporter and helper, and Mr. James P. Gardner, one time President of the Lincoln Centre Board and member and Trustee for many years of All Souls Church.

Report of the Secretary, Dr. James Parker Hall, followed.

TREASURER'S REPORT

January 15, 1924 to January 15, 1925

DURING the early part of the year, the Treasurer, with the approval of the Board, sold the following securities which were not legal for Trust Funds:

77	shares	Elgin National Watch Company stock
111	"	General Motors Corp. debenture stock
174	"	National Leather Company stock
100	"	Albert Pick & Co. preferred stock
25	"	Superior Steel Company stock
87	"	Swift & Company stock
50	"	Wilson & Company preferred stock and reinvested the proceeds in securities which are permissible under the laws of the State of Illinois for the investment of Trust Funds, being principally real estate bonds and mortgages.

There is at present in the Endowment Fund only one investment that is not legal for Trust Funds in the State of Illinois, namely, four shares of Western Stoneware Co. preferred stock, which was a gift to the Endowment Fund and has been in the Fund since before the present Treasurer took office.

The sales of stocks and securities sold netted a gain to the Endowment Fund of $1,811.17. The Endowment Fund at the beginning of the period was $126,176.25, and the present balance is $128,987.42. The gain on stocks was $1,000, a gift from Dr. Ruth Mae Morris on June 15th, making up the increase.

This Endowment Fund is represented by the following:

With reference to these securities, the Dominion of Canada School Bonds for $120.00 have been past due since last year. The question of collection has been taken up with the financial authorities of the Dominion, and we expect payment eventually, but no definite date can be placed on when it will be received.

The Rural Municipality of Nelson is now in default on $120.00 interest and $1,000.00 principal, due November 1st, 1924. This matter has also been taken up with the financial authorities of the Province of Alberta, and we expect to receive this money before very many months.

J. M. Woodland mortgage—is a mortgage on a farm in Idaho, and has been in default for about two years, but the Treasurer has been kept in touch with the County Treasurer and also with the situation in that locality in Idaho, and as soon as possible this mortgage will probably be disposed of to the best advantage.

The Sumner Sollitt note for $2,000.00 is still in default and no interest has been paid this year.

Regarding the income for this year, the amount we will have received up to January 15th for the year, will amount to $6,070.79 which is $1,019.65 less than last year. The reason therefor will be taken up further in my report. This income was derived as follows:

Income from Bonds	$1,370.79
Income from Dividends	38.50
Income from Mortgages	4,358.77
Income from Interest on Bank Balances.....	302.73

Details of items are attached to the report. The difference in the income for this year and last year is caused primarily by the fact that the proceeds of the sales of stocks previously held were re-invested in mortgages, which pay interest only semi-annually, whereas the stock pay quarterly and over a given period we had the return for the full year.

The present investments show income of $6,770.30 per annum, and the difference between that and what was actually received is caused by the fact that there is considerable interest accrued on some of the mortgages, the interest being payable only semi-annually will not be received until the next year. In following years, of course, this will not apply, as over any certain period we will have the full return for that period. This will be more apparent if a scrutiny of the interest dates of the mortgages were made. For instance, some of our mortgages have six months' interest due on February 9th, February 20th and February 28th. Note that during the month of February there will be four interest notes collected, the bigger portion of which income, of course, really belonged to this year.

On the details attached to the report I have given the name of the mortgagors, the location of the offerings and the rate of interest that the mortgage carries. These mortgages are all considered very high class and have been well scrutinized before purchasing.

On the Day & Hansen Security Co. bonds, of $4,200 par value, it will probably be some considerable time before any more liquidation is received on these bonds, as the properties by which these bonds were secured must first be sold with the necessary court procedure to do so, and then the proceeds derived from the sale proportioned to the various bondholders as their interests are indicated by the original deed of trust covering the bonds. The trustees have notified us that the liquidation is proceeding very slowly and it is very uncertain at this time as to whether or not there will eventually be full liquidation, but the probabilities are there will not be.

FRIDAY MORNING FORUM

With a feeling of joy and mental exhilaration the members of the Forum turned to the opening morning, October 3, 1924, to hear Dr. Charles Clayton Morrison, Editor of the Christian Century. His subject was "The International Mind."

Llewellyn Jones, Literary Editor of the Chicago Evening Post, talked on "How to Read Poetry," a most illuminating and scholarly piece of work.

J. Paul Goode with his fine illustrations gave the "Geographical Foundations of American Power."

Our next speakers were an unusual discovery. A young couple, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Horrabin of the Plebs Magazine of London, told of Workers' Education in England. Then came our own Frederick Starr, who gave two lectures, one on the "Situation in the Far East" and the other on "Immediate Philippine Independence."

Mrs. Matilda Castro Tufts spoke on "Progressive Phases of Education," a talk well given by an expert.

Our dear neighbor, Dr. Louis L. Mann, gave his views on "What the Disbeliever Believes." It was interesting to note how many of his religious views coincided with those of Mr. Jones.

December 5, A. Emil Davies of London set forth "Public Ownership in the British Empire," what has been done and what is likely to be done in the near future.

December 12, Dr. Beatrice Hinkle of New York, author of "Recreating the Individual," gave an interesting talk on "Woman's Rights from the Standpoint of Psychoanalysis."

December 19, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Neilson opened their home to the Forum, and Professor and Mrs. Ferdinand Schevill gave their beautiful program on "Folk and Folk Songs of the Hebrides."

The program from January 1, includes Mrs. Tufts, Sherwood Anderson, Dr. DuBois, Charles Beard, Dr. Kammerer of Vienna, Scott Nearing, Homer St. Gaudens, Jennie F. W. Johnson, Aaron Sapiro, Pittman B. Potter, Anna Louise Strong, John Haynes Holmes, and Margaret Brackenbury Crook. This array of names ought to attract a large audience for our Forum. The interest and devotion of the members is most gratifying. We need more members to finance the venture.

HELEN ROSENFELS.

SUMMARY OF REPORTS

Boys' Work:

Mr. Hugh A. Rice, Director of the Gymnasium from January 1 to June 1, 1924, reported the outstanding events to be: the Leaders Corps Demonstration for their parents; Vodvil-Nite by which Lincoln Centre children raised funds for camp, and the May Festival. The boys entered whole-heartedly into each of these events and gave splendid displays of the way they had learned to control their bodies.

Good reports have been received of the boys when away from the Centre. Our colored leaders are said to be the key boys of the Oakland School Playground and they also compose most of the gymnasium squad of the Wendell Phillips School. Other leaders and boys have won places in the Englewood High School gymnastic team, several high school swimming teams, and in various other athletic teams from this vicinity. All the reports state that the Lincoln Centre boys play hard and play square.

In October Mr. Russell Pogue opened the Fall work with an open day on which anyone could come to the gymnasium. About seventy-five boys took advantage of this opportunity. Regular classes commenced the following day. There have been eight regular gymnasium periods each week with Saturday evening open for games and contests.

One of the most interesting events was the Athletic Meet at which a number of previous Lincoln Centre records were broken. Another was the Camp Reunion which was well attended and at which games were played and a demonstration of apparatus work given by the Leaders Corps. Both Leaders Corps held their annual meetings early in October when officers were elected for the ensuing year. The Corps have met every Thursday evening and have been specializing in apparatus work.

In reporting for the Game Room, the Director, Mr. George E. Bottomley, said in part: "The Game Room furnishes a big opportunity to supplement the work done in other branches of the Boys' Department. It not only serves to keep the boys off the street and in a good environment, but it gives the Director a chance to instil the principles of fair play and gentlemanly conduct, all of which help to build character."

"The two boys' clubs started late last year have been carried on and are proving very successful. Some of the aims taught are, good health, self-control, fair play and self-reliance."

"Our program of hikes and trips is one of the most valuable of our activities. This last fall on one of our visits to the Forest Preserve at Beverly Hills, one little fellow about ten years old asked if 'this was a forest.' He had never been in the woods before and on inquiry I found that there were several other boys who were seeing woods for the first time. Ten swimming, skating and hiking trips were taken during the year."

Girls' Work

Miss Peirce, Director, reported that owing to the good fortune of having a corps of trained volunteer workers, her department had been able not only to broaden the scope of work but to improve the quality, resulting in marked improvement on the part of the girls regularly attending, in gymnastic activities, dancing and dramatic work.

Some of our girls are now as agile as the boys in making a scissors high jump, vaulting the horse, or working out complicated puzzles on the parallel bars; and best of all they have learned to smile at a minor bump and to stick to a difficult thing until they master it.

Three efforts have been made in dramatic work, all showing improvement. Particularly effective was the Christmas Play given under the direction of Miss Marie Lehman, a student from the Maclean College of Dramatic Art.

The girls' social clubs have had lots of fun in their recognition of such special occasions as Valentine Day, Hallowe'en, Thanksgiving and Christmas. They have had outdoor hikes and roasts, and taken trips to the Field Museum and Art Institute. The girls have been helpful around the Centre as opportunity offered. Christmas cards were sold for the benefit of the Camp; one club furnished provisions for a Christmas basket, and the members of the older girls' club have waited on table for several of the Lincoln Centre dinners. They have also managed two or three dances which were well attended by the young people of the neighborhood.

One special occasion was the observance of Lincoln's Birthday, at which time Mrs. E. E. Smith told something of Lincoln's life and how the Centre happened to be named for him. Miss Jennie Johnson helped to unite the spirit of Lincoln with that of Mr. Jones by singing one of Lincoln's favorite songs, "Your Mission," a song often called for by Mr. Jones.

Eighty-two dollars and eighty-six cents in the Camp Fund represent the profits from the Vodvil-Nite program in March, with other earnings making a total contribution of $137.59. This does not include the new camp dinner bell provided by the G. O. P. Club.

Four of the girls well represented the Centre at the annual dinner of the Federation of Girls' Club in April. Two of the girls (one white and one colored) spoke at this meeting of what Lincoln Centre meant to them.

The Girls' athletic meet, the Mother and Daughter dinner were also occasions to be remembered.

In closing Miss Peirce said: "I would like to show how much the girls appreciate the work here offered to them. I am in my third year and it is impressed upon me that we could do four or five times the work at present done. We are caring for both colored and white girls. The colored girls of this district do not need the Centre as much as do the white. There are at least three large colored institutional churches in the neighborhood, several social centers and numerous smaller churches. About three large white churches have moved South. The assistant pastor of one of the churches just a few blocks west of here, one well equipped, said to me some time ago, "We are not making plans. We are waiting to see what is going to happen." In the meantime there are young people growing up all round us, and the sad thing is that it is uncertain as to what is going to happen to them. There are hundreds of young people in this vicinity who need what we are trying to give to them. The churches are not doing it, we should. The possibilities are great."

Domestic Science Department

From January to June, Miss Myrtle Meyers, teacher, reported five cooking classes per week and four in sewing. In May, at the close of the department's activities, a demonstration cooking lesson was given to enable the parents of the girls to see the nature of the work and the methods used in class. At the same time an exhibition of work done by the sewing classes was arranged in which both junior and middler classes participated.

Miss Deborah Spencer took charge in November and reported on the work for the remainder of the year. In October, Mrs. Turner, volunteer worker from the Lewis Institute, organized an advanced class in sewing, and the same girls in advanced cooking. In addition to these two classes, five more were organized: three in cooking and two in sewing, making a total of seven classes with a total enrollment of 147.

In both sewing and cooking the girls have been divided on an age basis into two general groups—beginners or Juniors and advanced or Middler classes.

The work of the Juniors in both sewing and cooking has been of the simplest type. It has been necessary to make a point of personal cleanliness, dish washing, and general care and order of the kitchen. They have prepared such things as soups, cocoa, and vegetables. Their work in sewing has been all hand work, different stitches and towel hemming. Most of the girls had to be taught to hold a needle and to use a thimble.

The Middler cooking classes have worked with a view to simple meal cooking by the end of the year's work, and the sewing has progressed so far to the completion of cover-all aprons.

Music Section—(Margaret C. and Mary V. V. Pinckney Endowment)

Mrs. Meda D. Steele, Chairman of the Section, said: "The real report of the section will be read by Miss Dahlgren, but I am glad to make a few observations. A few years ago we felt we had almost struck zero, due to the many changes and the conditions involved. We could not get regularity in attendance, so that it was very difficult to obtain results at all. But Miss Nagely has buckled down to the situation and has worked indefatigably year after year, and that counts, so that at present I think the condition is more favorable than it has been for years. The result has partially been brought about by the establishment of the classes. This helped to give the children a sense of progress as they complete one class course and go on to another, and it has given a sense of permanency and continuity to the work which has meant a good deal. Then we have given some scholarships each year—there have been four given in the department this year, developing some of our more promising pupils to help us in the department. We already have had help from three of our old pupils in the teaching line. Another point, the percentage of the white pupils is much greater than it has been for some years. It seems to be growing. In the piano department conditions have never been favorable for segregation. We have ignored the matter of color. Both Miss Nagely and I have felt that we individually wanted to and it seems to have worked beautifully. Much of our work is in the way of private lessons but we have had no separation in the class work. Last Saturday we had a party, at which we had nearly forty present and the colored and white children had a quite glorious time together. I presume we shall continue that sort of policy. One thing that has helped us, is that one person has stuck by the ship for years. Miss Nagely has stayed by year after year and has worked tremendously. The study of instrumental music I think affords more opportunity for mental development than any other thing if properly taken up and administered. We feel very much encouraged for the future and the present conditions are exceedingly gratifying."

Miss Nagely gave a report showing a decided growth in her work. She mentioned the great need of another piano; reported an enrollment of forty-eight pupils. Each pupil has two lessons a week,—one private lesson and one class lesson.

First among the teachers is Mrs. Steele, devotedly giving her time on Saturdays to class work.

The other teachers are Miss Margaret Atkins, Miss Rozalia Cochran, Miss Margareta Oliva, and Miss Nagely.

Three recitals were given last year by this department assisted by the chorus and interpretative dancing directed by Mrs. Funk, Miss Bush and Miss Dahlgren, respectively.

Three Scholarships were given for one year's work to pupils showing talent and having passed their examinations.

$15.00 a month is the average amount collected for lessons in this department which is given to the general fund of Lincoln Centre.

Miss Ada Dahlgren said that the Chorus activities might be divided into two parts: the facts about the work, and the end and purpose of the department as related to the ideals of Lincoln Centre.

She reported five organizations and a woman's chorus waiting to be reorganized: two Middler Glee clubs, one white and one colored girls; an enthusiastic and vociferous boys' chorus, and a Junior Girls' chorus, largest in numbers, and most faithful and eager.

The choruses have had several appearances at student recitals and also on the Christmas program where carols were sung.

Regular recitals are being planned for this year's work and already Vodvil-Nite and an Easter program are scheduled and in preparation.

In two months' work in Lincoln Centre, 49 rehearsals have been held with a total attendance of some 160 children.

Figures do not mean so much after all, where the aim and ideal is to reach the individual child. In our Chorus Department we try, not merely to give each and every child an interest and instruction in singing, but also to give him a background of culture and to inculcate a sense of moral responsibility. Music rightly used will do a great deal toward securing the finer things of life, for which Lincoln Centre stands.

Welfare Department

The Chairman, Mrs. Victor Polachek, thought the business of being a chairman of a committee in Lincoln Centre very much of an honorary affair because of the ability and efficiency of the workers. She called on Mrs. Ayres for details. Mrs. Ayres said in part:

Last year we declared our aim to be helpful, friendly relations between our neighbors and the Centre and in summing up this year's work we wonder how much we have accomplished toward that end. In our rapidly changing neighborhood, work done today must be done again tomorrow.

435 calls were made and 476 people with problems of all sorts, were interviewed in the office. We try to find a solution for these, if we cannot handle them, by reference to the proper agency, but very often work out with the person in trouble, a plan, by which he may help himself. Lack of employment was our most serious consideration, as early this fall, hundreds of men were out of work and the women must do day work to keep the family going. The children uncared for during the day, must be brought into the Centre for classes and games. 63 days' work were given to women and permanent employment found for 21 housemaids and two men.

The worker has acted on the advisory committees of our two district offices of the United Charities, receiving valuable help and counsel, and in several cases has been able to co-operate by furnishing clothing and bedding, or to buy milk for needy babies.

We are breathing easy just now, for our old folks are to be happily accounted for. Mrs. M., whose insurance we pay, is helped by the Charities and a pension for the blind in a little flat of her own; Miss C., a dear little lady, is in the Home for the Friendless, where she is very happy and beloved by all; another blind friend is in the Home for Incurables. Louis C., 78 years old, a good friend and neighbor, who found it hard to go longer on his knees and earn his living as he had done for fifty years, asked the worker to help him find a home for the balance of his life. He, also, was admitted to the Home for Incurables on Thanksgiving day.

The very capable chairman of the Welfare Department has engineered the financial end. Two rummage sales, and a food sale with contributions from good friends, have enabled us to make a loan, without interest, of $75.00 in one case, which has been repaid; and to spend $206.59 for relief work, aside from our Christmas fund of $98.00 which was used for blankets and clothing for 19 families. Our neighbor, Mr. George W. Fleming, helped us to buy at wholesale prices and make every penny count. 25 of our families were supplied with baskets through the kindness of Mr. Polachek of the Herald-Examiner.

Mrs. Armand Deutsch, following the custom of many years of her mother, Mrs. Julius Rosenwald, supplied us with 400 boxes of candy put up by her children, for our children—and the 25 mama dolls which Mrs. P. H. Magnus sent to us, were a real joy to the little girls who received them.

The months of June and July were spent at camp—where the close friendships we are able to make repay all the hard work and necessary worry connected with feeding and mothering 140 girls.

It is interesting to note here that twenty children saved all or a part of their camp expenses in our Penny Savings Society, where we receive deposits of one cent and up. The Northern Trust Company furnishes us with the necessary filing cabinets and supplies, also a new poster to hang in the lobby each month.

The Mothers' Club continues loyal and faithful, and their beautiful fellowship means much to each of our eighty members. The speakers on subjects from housework to politics are always much appreciated. The family Christmas party, at which in several cases four generations were represented, and the picnic early in June, gave us a chance to show our children that we still know how to play and enjoy it.

Lincoln Centre Camp

The Camp Director, Mr. Rice, reported that the Camp period had been longer and the number of campers accommodated larger, than in the previous two years. The Volunteer leaders this year were young men who had come up through the Boys' Department and had done valuable work. Training in life saving methods had been given to boys and girls. Trips to Koshkonong and the "Stunt Nights" had been much enjoyed.

The Girls' Camps, said Miss Peirce, were as large and enthusiastic as they had ever been. The first two camps had forty-eight each—the supposed accommodation being forty—and the third numbered forty-four. A fourth camp could have been filled with ease.

Necessary repairs on farm and camp were made this year, which included a new well, and some very much needed camp and cooking equipment.

We need a new drainage system which will cost about $1,000.00. New boats are another great need—at least two—as two of the old ones are beyond repair. "But," said Mrs. Ayres, "it is money well invested, as no part of Lincoln Centre work pays such dividends in good health, good times and the knowledge of wholesome living to our boys and girls."

Lincoln Centre Branch of the Chicago Public Library

The growing work of the Library was reported by Miss Vivian G. Harsh, Librarian, as follows:

Statistics show that public libraries everywhere are gaining in use and popularity, and it is indeed gratifying to know that Lincoln Centre Branch, one of the forty branches of the Chicago Public Library, is growing also. For the year ending December, 1924, 132,398 books were circulated—78,579 volumes to adult readers and 53,819 to juvenile borrowers. The reading room was patronized by some 56,509 persons, who consulted the various reference books, the magazines, pamphlets and other material. 1,748 new book borrowers applied for cards and reference questions amounting to over 7,000 were answered throughout the year. Lists of best books for children were as usual distributed to the schools in the neighborhood and a display was held at the Drexel State Bank during "Children's Book Week" of beautiful editions of children's books. The picture collection has proved just as useful to the teachers and pupils as in former years and the foreign books, although forming a very small portion of the branch collection, have been enjoyed by the readers of such literature, with the demand for Yiddish books increasing. The branch has at present a collection of 12,364 volumes. The Story Hour has been well attended and on Saturday morning usually can be found a group of children waiting for the Story Hour to begin, eager to listen to the stories and tales prepared by the "Story Lady" for that day.

Besides the arduous tasks of librarianship, many amusing incidents arise from day to day. Hundreds of unanswerable questions must be answered and a sheaf of correspondence is received from both appreciative and irate borrowers.

One letter was received from a patron who was sent a notice for a copy of "The Tattooed Countess," which he had kept longer than the time allowed. The chirography thereon evidently was not appreciated for the very facetious gentleman misconstrued it to read "The Tattered Countess." Following is a copy of his letter:

"Your present contribution to the realm of undecipherable hieroglyphics is indeed an excellent one. It resembles an unsuccessful attempt to forge a Chinese laundry check, and, so nearly as I can make out from the unique brand of shorthand which you pretend to write, you accuse me of having abducted a tattered countess, and concealing her about the premises. That seems absurd, firstly, because I have no need of abducting females, for, be they common or noble, they follow me eagerly and in flocks; and, secondly, were I at all inclined to desert the home grown product for foreign aristocracy, I certainly should not pick a tattered countess so long as one could be found in a more conventional state of preservation."

We had not completely recovered from that when we received a telephone from a gentleman who wanted to know the birthplace of Alexander the Great. The library assistant looked up the information and told him that Alexander the Great was born in Pella, Macedonia. Whereupon the borrower replied, "Excuse me lady, but I think you're a little off, it begins with a 'W' and contains seven letters according to the crossword puzzle in today's American."

Apocryphal things romantic and historical—a youthful borrower asked for an historical novel. The librarian asked him, "What period?" His reply was, "Second period in the afternoon." After he had been given a suitable book he awoke to the fact that he had no library card. "I want to take out first papers for a library card," he said at the registration desk a few minutes later.

But to show that effort is always appreciated, a very pleasant lady came in one morning when the library assistants were not as busily engaged as they might be. She remarked that they had a very easy job, but they assured her that they do work hard at times. She looked around her at the shelves containing more than 12,000 volumes and remarked, "Well, I believe you do work hard. It must be an awful job to have to take all of those books off the shelves and dust them every morning."

But the hardest blow of all was to have an adult patron ask if we had any new books by Dickens or Shakespeare.

Unity

Mrs. S. O. Levinson, President of the Unity Publishing Company, gave an encouraging report. She said:

There are many able voices lifted up in behalf of Unity. Chief among them is that of John Haynes Holmes, who continues to be the great and dominating force of the paper, and is untiring in his devotion to its demands. We have had the accession this year of Doctor Louis L. Mann as Associate Editor. He is a new and powerful force in this community and in Chicago. He has been generous and energetic in helping Unity in its hour of financial need. The results of his work will be submitted to the Board at its next meeting. In the coming year we hope to have several articles from his brilliant pen.

Unity's position as champion of the Outlawry of War is now being shared by the Christian Century, a well known and able liberal Christian weekly magazine published in Chicago. Doctor Charles Clayton Morrison, its editor, is rendering invaluable service to the cause.

Our balance this year, as last, is on the right side of the ledger, though small. But liberal papers the world over have a hard time getting on, and Unity is no exception in this regard. We need your support and help. May we not urge all of you who do not already subscribe for Unity, to add this paper to your weekly reading?

In the past year we have suffered an irreparable loss in the passing of our dear and faithful fellow worker, Mrs. O. T. Knight. Her devotion to Unity as to Lincoln Centre and all its activities, was never ending and cannot be estimated. It remains only for us to join hands and take up the burden that she laid down.

It has been our misfortune to lose from our midst Mrs. E. E. Smith, who, for a number of years, was President of the Unity Board. We find it hard to do without her wisdom and counsel and we live in hopes that a kind Providence will bring her back to us.

No man liveth unto himself and there is no way of measuring the extent of a man's influence. How much more difficult it is to measure the influence of an organ like Unity, which was first the medium through which the clarion voice of its founder was carried into the far corners of the earth, and since his passing has continued to carry on his message, protesting always against injustice, and always the champion of the great ideal for which Abraham Lincoln Centre was founded.

National Federation of Religious Liberals

Mr. Reese insisted that it was getting late and that he would limit his remarks in consequence. He reminded his audience that it was still the aim of the Federation to conduct district and national liberal religious institutes or conferences, and to publish pamphlets and books for general distribution. Two conferences had been held, a very successful conference at Kansas City, and a National Conference of much interest in New York City.

Mr. Reese hoped that the finances of the Federation were going to be taken care of in a generous way by quotas from the four organizations already participating in the work of the organization. The Unitarian Campaign Committee had been asked to vote an appropriation of $5,000.00 annually for five years as a Unitarian quota. This is to be available some time this year. Similar quotas from the Universalist body, the Jewish organizations and from the Society of Friends would enable the Federation to work uninterruptedly in harmony with the long time policy of the institution and its founder's aim,—to carry on the work of promoting religious fellowship, inter-racial sympathy and international patriotism and the spirit of peace in the world.

Superintendent Mrs. Edith Lloyd Jones

The work of the Centre has been practically reported by those who have been doing it. But, I wish you could all realize as I do the devotion and loyalty they have put into it. There has been a fine spirit of co-operation which has extended to all our helpers, upon whom we are so dependent for daily comfort—engineer, janitors and our invaluable Mrs. Weinman, have all done their part in making this a successful year.

As superintendent of the building I am glad to report that the roof has been renewed at a cost of $585.00; some much needed plastering has been done, and the considerable damage done to the windows by storms and the constant jarring of busses, repaired.

Our needs for the coming year are manifold. The auditorium windows need a complete overhauling—some of the furniture needs renovating and replacing. The gymnasium and several other rooms need new equipment.

As assistant treasurer, I fully realize that a dollar is no longer equal to 100 cents. We have had to stretch it to the limit and curtail our activities when enough dollars were not in sight. But I am indeed happy to come to the end of 1924 with all bills paid—or enough money in sight to pay them.

Looking back and summing up, has it been worth while? All the work, money and sometimes the worry?

Truly, I think it has. Lincoln Centre is still a refuge, a hope and an inspiration. All sorts of people have turned to it in sorrow and their woes of body or soul have been lightened. Youth has been helped to saner and higher ideals of living. We have at least tried to practice the Golden Rule and to demonstrate the brotherhood we talk about. In 1925 may it still continue to realize the dream of its founders and repay the devotion of its supporters a little more earnestly than ever before.
